LEADERSHIP

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The years seem to go by faster these days, but each is no less significant. For Adventist Health International (AHI), our level of global involvement continues to expand. Our major upgrade at Malamulo Adventist Hospital in Malawi is complete, and we are getting ready to launch a similar upgrade for Mwami Adventist Hospital in Zambia. We are building a new surgery block at Béré Adventist Hospital in Chad, renovating homes at Jengre Seventh-day Adventist Hospital in Nigeria, have taken on Glei Eye Hospital and dental clinic in Togo, and adding clinical services at Scheer Memorial Adventist Hospital in Nepal. This is in addition to all the usual support activities at 50 hospitals and over 100 clinics in 33 countries.

I also want to recognize the incredibly difficult and dangerous areas that some of our staff are working in. Baraka Adventist Hospital in Eastern Chad is receiving many refugees from the Darfur region of Sudan due to their bloody civil war. Our hospital in Haiti is on the edge of the gang warfare in Port-au-Prince, caring for patients even as gunfire can be heard in the background. And our hospital in Kyiv, Ukraine continues taking their mobile units into war zones, providing essential primary care to isolated villages.

One program that AHI started some years ago is a resounding success, the Development Loan Revolving Fund. One of the greatest issues in many countries is borrowing funds for short-term improvements such as a new piece of lab equipment, a solar power project, a pharmacy revolving fund, or some other initiative that can produce increased revenue quickly. In many countries, loans from either the church or bank cost well over 10% interest, with payments beginning immediately. So we decided to begin our own loan program with a one year grace period to implement the project, and then only 2% interest with payback over a two-three year period. We started with a total of $300,000 to fund a variety of smaller projects. We have now funded over 25 requests and the fund has grown to $1 million. Nearly all loans are paid back on time. Both the access to inexpensive funds and the discipline of paying back have been invaluable.

Finally, with great sadness, we have recently lost two dear colleagues. Jerry Daly was the kind of person that could figure out how to make something happen and solve any problem.

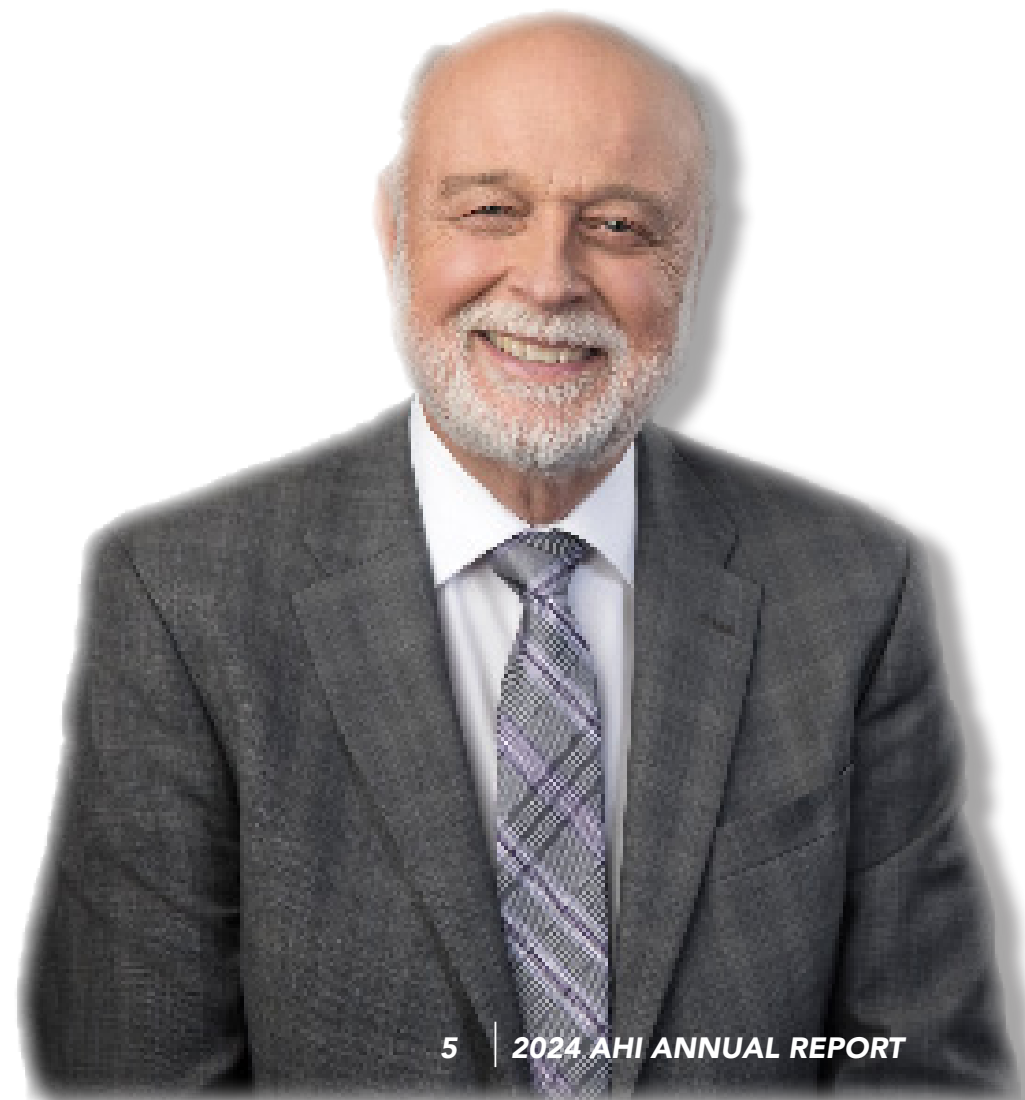

He was the “behind the scenes” anchor for the Loma Linda University Overseas Heart Surgery team, Sir Run Run Shaw Hospital in China, projects in Afghanistan and the West Bank, and certainly much of what AHI has accomplished. He and Jan Zumwalt were the founders of our Global Health Institute here at Loma Linda. More recently Bing Frazier also passed away. Bing was the front door to Loma Linda, arranging mentorships and training for thousands of visiting scholars, students, and guests to spend time on our campus over the last 25 years. You can read more about each of them in this report as they leave huge holes in our hearts and operations.

Each Friday at noon, our AHI leadership team meets for two hours to receive reports, discuss initiatives and challenges, make decisions, and move our institutions forward. It is always a high point of my week. Thank you to each of you, our supporters, who enable this critical work to continue. You are appreciated more than you can know by the thousands of staff providing compassionate care around the world and the millions of patients receiving that care.

Cordially,

RICHARD H. HART, MD, DrPH

EMPOWERING GLOBAL HEALTHCARE LEADERSHIP

BY QUALYN ROBINSON

Over 350 Seventh-day Adventist healthcare leaders from 24 countries congregated in Malawi for the 13th Global Healthcare Conference, now known as the Global Healthcare Leadership Academy. This initiative, spearheaded by Loma Linda University Health, aims to promote networking, growth, and development of the church's healthcare institutions around the world. Held from August 6 to 10, 2024 in Blantyre, the event marked the first international conference since 2020 in India.

Participants engaged in a range of interactive lectures and breakout workshops designed to enhance their understanding of the diverse roles and responsibilities of healthcare leaders. The event also provided a valuable platform for networking and collaboration, fostering discussions on daily challenges and practical solutions.

"During this year's Global Healthcare Leadership Academy, I understand that, yes, we will discuss accounting, equipment, IT—many of the things that give us headaches—but I want to remind us that our ultimate purpose is to make man whole," said Richard H. Hart, MD, DrPH, president of Loma Linda University Health, during his opening address.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church operates 225 hospitals and 450 clinics worldwide. "Too often, we become consumed by the struggle for survival instead of striving to fulfill God's vision for these hospitals and clinics. Our mission is to help these institutions grow stronger and thrive."

Conference workshops featured nursing and quality improvement. Highlights of the weekend included a live session of Conversations on Governance and presentations by Adventist Risk Management. The academy also hosted the Diploma in Health Administration (DHA) graduation with a cohort of 27 graduates.

The DHA program was established to address critical operational challenges faced by healthcare institutions in Africa. These include a shortage of adequately trained healthcare administrators and business managers, poor financial audits, and weak internal controls at many mission hospitals. Additionally, the program seeks to respond to emerging trends and the increasing complexity of healthcare management across the continent.

EMPOWERING GLOBAL HEALTHCARE LEADERSHIP

The Global Healthcare Conference began in 2010 in Honduras, focusing on the specific needs of healthcare leaders in Latin America. It has been held annually since 2012, alternating locations between Loma Linda and regional sites, including the Dominican Republic, Côte d'Ivoire, Zambia, and India. This year, hospital leaders across Africa shared significant advancements within their institutions, aiming to encourage and inspire their peers.

Collaborating organizations for this year's conference included Adventist Health International, the Department of Health Ministries of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and Loma Linda University Health Global Health Institute.

A special thank-you to our Malawi hosts and institutional partners whose support and warm hospitality made this event possible: Malawi Union Conference, Adventist Health System-Malawi, Blantyre Adventist Hospital, Lilongwe Adventist Hospital, Malamulo Adventist Hospital, Malawi Adventist University, and Malamulo College of Health Sciences.

NAVIGATING THROUGH DISASTER

BY SCOTT NELSON, MD AND JERE CHRISPENS, MA

This year, the challenges in Haiti have again escalated beyond imagination. On November 11, 2024, the fourth prime minister in the same year was sworn into office. That same day gunfire penetrated a Spirit Airlines plane on final approach to Port-au-Prince airport. Fortunately no one was seriously injured and the plane was able to divert to Santiago, Dominican Republic. On further analysis it was noted that planes from American and JetBlue also sustained damage from gunfire that day. Not surprisingly, all flights to Port-au-Prince are now suspended. It is uncertain when they can safely resume as there are very few security measures that can assure this will not happen in the future.

On November 20, Doctors Without Borders, known as Médecins Sans Frontiers (MSF), announced that they suspended operations at their two main facilities in the Port-au-Prince metropolitan area. This came in the wake of several threats of rape and murder by the Haitian police to MSF staff members while transporting patients. One MSF ambulance was ambushed by Haitian police and attackers tear-gassed the staff, slashed the tires, and executed the two patients that were being transported.

MSF has been providing charity medical care in Haiti for over 30 years. "We accept working in conditions of insecurity, but when even law enforcement becomes a direct threat, we have no choice but to suspend admissions of patients in Port-au-Prince until the conditions are met for us to resume," said Christophe Garnier, the charity's head of mission in Haiti.

Given that MSF is still working in some of the most intense conflict areas of the world, but not in Haiti puts our situation into perspective. It is a miracle that Hôpital Adventiste d'Haïti (HAH) is still functioning. This speaks to the devotion and perseverance of people like Dr. Jimmy, our general surgeon, who wrote this message a few days ago, "HAH is the only private hospital in Haiti that receives patients without money... Yesterday there was a 25 year old patient with a bad blunt abdominal trauma. He was at another hospital, they did not do the surgery because of money. He came to see us at HAH, and we did the surgery for him. There was a 65 year old patient with constrictive pericarditis, I did a pericardiectomy for her. So, HAH is very important. We cannot stop working. But the conditions are very difficult."

Regular videoconference meetings are held with leadership

at MSF and HAH collaborates with them in a number of ways. In spite of the fact that they have a much more extensive infrastructure, they refer many patients to HAH for specialized surgical care, especially orthopedic cases. They also contract with HAH's laundry services to wash the linens for the MSF facility in Carrefour. This income has allowed HAH to keep additional people employed, expand the hospital laundry, and create a small amount of additional revenue.

The biggest challenges at the moment are supply chain and maintenance of critical equipment. For example, this week we ran out of gauze. The vendors have run out of gauze. The port is closed. The airport is closed. There is no gauze for the foreseeable future. The risks of moving freely about the city often preclude staff from obtaining needed items even if they are available.

Thankfully, HAH has been able to produce all of its own oxygen needs for the last two years and even have enough to sell to other facilities in the area. There are pumps that fill cylinders to 2200psi, and one has a blown-out hose that connects the pump to the cylinder manifold. It is not repairable and the replacement part is not available in country. We are trying to arrange for someone to carry this small item in a knapsack over the land border from the Dominican Republic. Fortunately, HAH continues to produce 55psi wall oxygen which supplies the operating room, emergency room, and newly remodeled ward.

HAH's Imaging Department providing a vital service for a patient

HAH's Laundry and Housekeeping Staff

Electricity is sporadic as the two generators servicing the hospital were very old. Recently, HAH had to procure two new generators. The units were located in Haiti, but arranging for delivery was a big challenge. A driver was eventually found that would brave the dangerous journey to HAH. The driver packed them in the front of a shipping container and added several layers of cement blocks and heavy construction materials behind them in order to avoid getting hijacked. It was not cheap, and there was still some risk, but there was no other option and the delivery was a success.

The infrastructure and accountability that was created over the past several years is now being put to the test.

Jere Chrispens (CEO), Dr. Scott Nelson (CMO) in California and Mackenson Christophe (COO) in Haiti are in constant communication in regards to finances, infrastructure, security, and medical issues. Today in the midst of conflict, people are getting life-saving operations, having babies, and receiving much needed medical care at HAH.

More and more patients continue to come. No one is turned away. It is no small miracle that HAH is still alive, but the Lord's continued blessings are abundant as we do our part. Your prayers and continued support are much appreciated.

PAN-AFRICAN ADVENTIST DENTAL CONFERENCE

BY QUALYN ROBINSON

The Pan-African Adventist Dental Conference was held at the East-Central Africa Division (ECD) facilities in Nairobi, Kenya for the period of January 10 - 15, 2024. This momentous event was hosted by AHI, the Health Ministries Department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, National Association of Seventh-day Adventist Dentists, World Medics, and the ECD and Southern Africa-Indian Ocean Division. Over 60 participants, including more than 40 dentists, traveled from Nigeria, Lesotho, Mexico, Nepal, and Europe, underscoring the global significance of the conference.

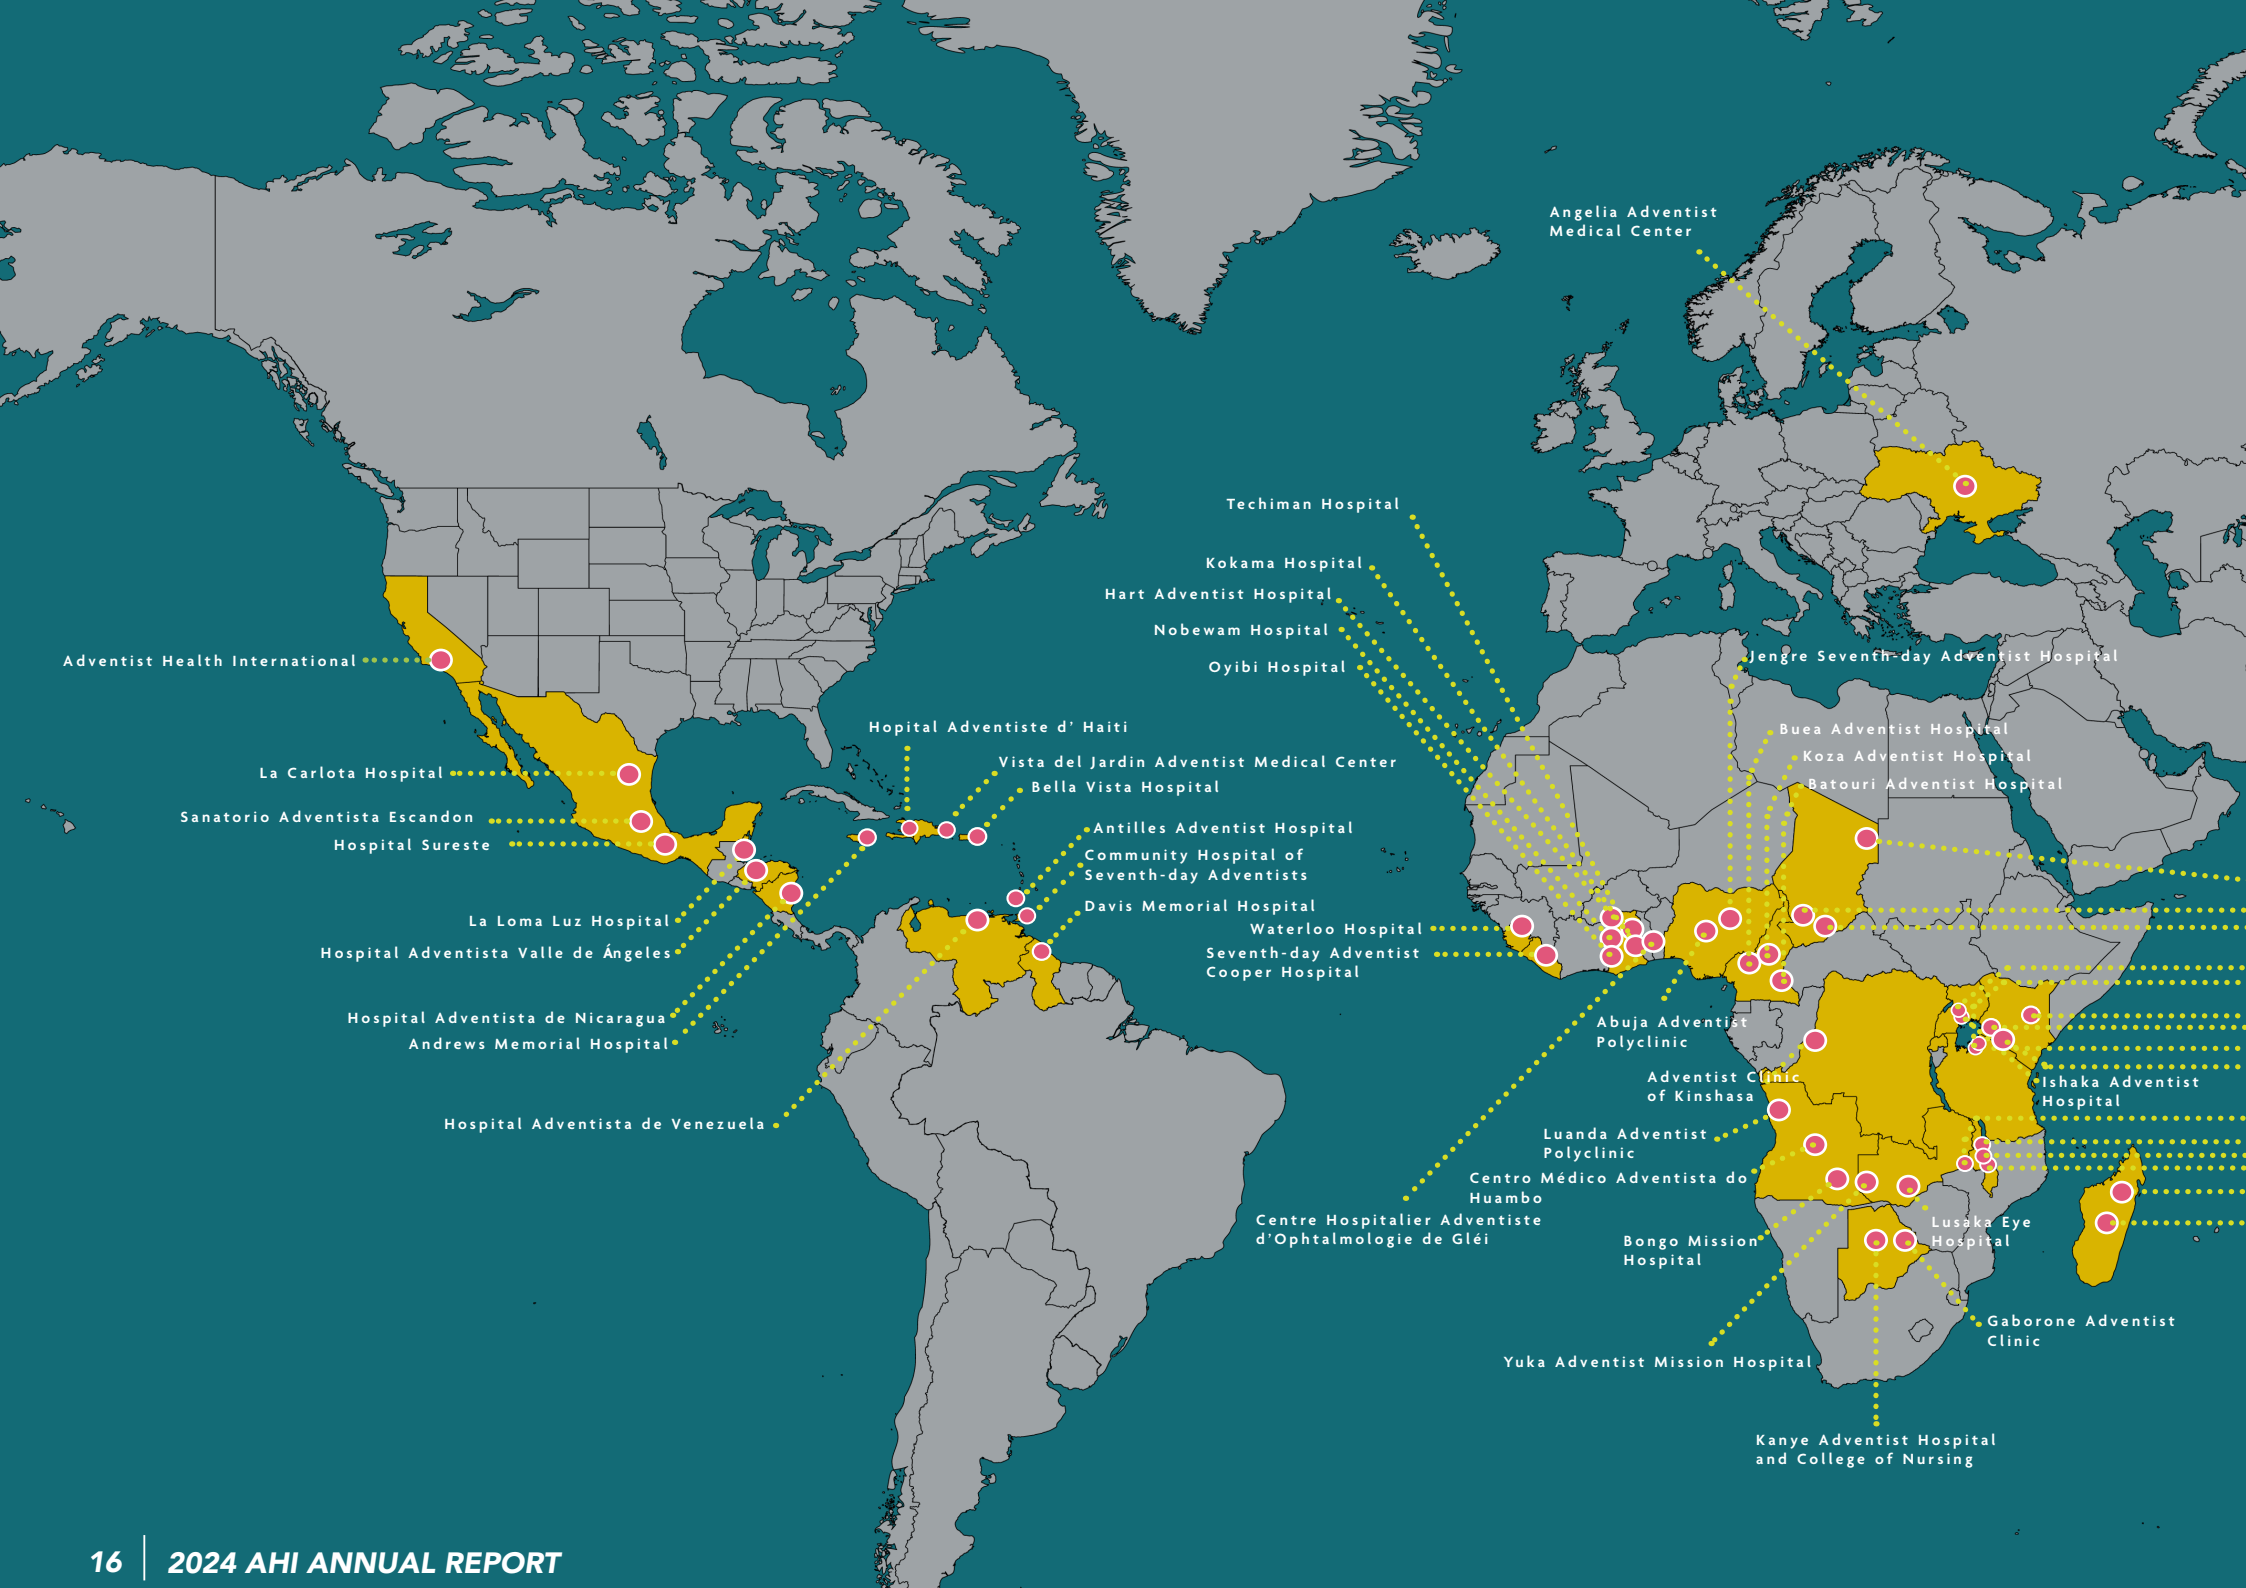

Attendees enjoyed a comprehensive agenda, which combined professional development, spiritual enrichment, and fellowship. Dr. Brian Goodacre led continuing education sessions on topics such as removable and fixed prosthodontics, implants, and digital dentistry. A full day of sessions featured African presenters who delivered engaging talks on a variety of subjects. Spiritual content was woven throughout the program, with worships led by Dr. Peter Landless via Zoom.

The attendees voted together to form the Pan-African Adventist Dental Association and appointed a committee to compose by-laws and define goals. Its aims are to provide recreation and spiritual encouragement for members, and to recruit Adventist dentists into active church involvement. It also envisions organizing dental camps to serve underserved communities, aligning with Adventist values of service and outreach. After 11 months of work, this organizational framework was finalized on December 1, 2024 and officers were elected.

The conference's keynote speaker, Dr. Charles Goodacre, highlighted innovations in dentistry, including advancements in prosthetic fabrication, user-friendly software, and enhanced manufacturing techniques. Dr. Miguel Obed Rodriguez Vela, an attendee, reflected on the event as a unique opportunity to share knowledge, build meaningful connections, and deepen commitment to compassionate, faith-driven service. He noted that education extends beyond academics, encompassing moral and spiritual growth.

The overwhelmingly positive evaluations of the conference underscored the conference's impact on attendees, who left with renewed motivation and professional insights. Attendees not only gained knowledge in the field of dentistry but also reinforced their mission to serve communities with excellence, empathy, and faith.

DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF THE CONGO

ADVENTIST CLINIC OF KINSHASHA

With a population of 112 million, the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) is one of Africa's most populous countries. Its capital, Kinshasa, is home to 15 million people.

In 2024, the Adventist Clinic of Kinshasha provided care to over 3,000 patients. That same year, the clinic completed a new building on its campus to expand services in general medicine, surgery, women's health, ophthalmology, rehabilitation, and medical imaging.

The clinic's administration is now seeking support to equip the new facility, ensuring it can fully meet the growing healthcare needs of the community.

KENYA

KENDU ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

In 2024, patient volume surged across both clinics and wards. Kendu Adventist Hospital proudly inaugurated a new dialysis center, enhancing its commitment to comprehensive healthcare in the region. This center addresses the critical need for accessible renal care, providing lifesaving dialysis services to patients with kidney conditions who previously had to travel long distances for treatment. The facility is equipped with modern dialysis machines and staffed by trained professionals dedicated to quality and compassionate care.

Kendu Adventist Hospital is proud to be a certified American Heart Association training center for Basic Life Support (BLS) and Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS) courses. These internationally recognized programs are designed to equip healthcare professionals and first responders with essential lifesaving skills to respond effectively to cardiac and respiratory emergencies.

MALAWI

LILONGWE ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

The Lilongwe Adventist Hospital (LAH) Dental Department recently underwent a major renovation, featuring modern equipment, additional dental chairs, and structural upgrades. An additional dentist was hired to enhance patient care, increase service capacity, and improve operational efficiency.

The remodeled Dental Department was officially reopened on July 2, 2024 by the Deputy Minister of Health, Hon. Harima Daud. It was later dedicated again on August 5, 2024 in a special ceremony led by Dr. Richard Hart and Pastor Tony Nyirenda.

LAH also transitioned from manual systems to the SunPlus Health Care System to enhance clinical efficiency and integrate financial records. This transformation marked a major milestone in digitalization, improving data accuracy, and hospital operations. Special appreciation goes to AHI for supporting this project.

MALAWI

BLANTYRE ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Blantyre Adventist Hospital (BAH) successfully conducted three heart camps, delivering life-saving cardiac care. Over the course of these camps, the hospital performed a total of 32 open-heart surgeries, 18 pacemaker implantations, and 2 balloon valvuloplasties. The first and third camps each saw 13 open-heart surgeries and 7 pacemaker implants, while the second camp featured 12 open-heart surgeries, 9 pacemakers, and 2 balloon valvuloplasties.

In addition to its clinical successes, BAH was honored with the Bravery Award by the Confederation of Chambers of Commerce and Industry (MCCCI) for its bold approach to addressing critical healthcare challenges. This prestigious award recognizes organizations that lead fearlessly, challenge the status quo, and create shared value in the face of adversity. BAH's commitment to pioneering new solutions in healthcare makes it an institution of courage and innovation, inspiring others to think differently and pave the way for positive change.

SIERRA LEONE

WATERLOO ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Waterloo Adventist Hospital (WAH) expresses its sincere gratitude to Adventist Health International and the Loma Linda University Medical Auxiliary for their generous support in acquiring an endoscopy tower. The hospital routinely treats patients with critical or unexplained conditions that require direct visualization for diagnosis. This machine will literally bring light to some of the patient's darkest times.

The staff often face the emotional weight of witnessing patient suffering, feeling powerless at times to provide meaningful solutions. However, this donation represents hope, and its impact will resonate deeply within the Sierra Leonean community, offering patients healing and wellness.

The hospital is now working to renovate and reorganize the operating theatre to maximize the benefits of the new equipment. The vision and dreams for the hospital's future have never felt more within reach, and the staff remains profoundly grateful for blessings and the continued support of AHI.

UGANDA

ISHAKA ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Ishaka Adventist Hospital celebrated the graduation of students from its health training institutions on September 15, 2024. Graduates from the years 2020–2023 received certificates and diplomas in a ceremony attended by dignitaries, including Dr. Iris Mamier from Loma Linda University and Dr. Andrew Mutero from the East and Central Africa Division. The event highlighted the institution's growth, with support from Loma Linda University Health, Adventist Health International, and the Winfred L. Stevens Foundation.

In its ongoing environmental efforts, Ishaka Adventist Hospital partnered with KCB Bank for a tree-planting initiative on October 4, 2024, planting 600 trees on Ishaka Hill. This project emphasized shared responsibility in combating deforestation, climate change, and pollution while reinforcing the hospital's commitment to sustainability.

From November 10–15, 2024, the hospital hosted a medical camp for Vesicovaginal Fistula (VVF) and Stage IV Uterine Prolapse surgeries, providing life-changing procedures for 40 women. Over 60 women attended screenings after learning the hospital was offering these critical services free of charge.

TANZANIA

HERI ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Heri Adventist Hospital, located near the Burundi border in Northwestern Tanzania, was founded in 1947. The hospital serves as the base for a network of twelve clinics, providing care to about 20,000 patients annually. The hospital has 100 beds and an average of 6.5 admissions per day. It operates with its own spring for water and a solar farm for nearly complete energy independence.

The affiliated College of Health and Sciences, which began as a nursing school, now offers a three-year Clinical Officer diploma program. Its graduates are highly sought after by hospitals in Western Tanzania. The college and hospital face challenges, including being in a resource-poor area with delayed government health insurance payments.

Plans for improvement include expanding the hospital with a new female ward and emergency room, as well as upgrading the laboratory, radiology, and pharmacy services. The growing college needs more dormitory space, classrooms, and labs to accommodate its expansion.

TANZANIA

SDA PASIANSI HOSPITAL

SDA Pasiansi Hospital is located in Mwanza, Tanzania, the country's second-largest city, with a catchment area of approximately 2.5 million people. Situated at the southern base of Lake Victoria, Pasiansi began as a dispensary in 1972 and has since evolved into a prominent outpatient health center. While most hospitals in Mwanza are concentrated in the Nyamanga district, Pasiansi serves the Illemela district, where it is one of only two hospitals.

In 2020, Pasiansi expanded with the construction of a five-story building and currently occupies the lower three floors. The hospital is focused on improving infrastructure to enhance care quality, with the recent addition of a digital X-ray system significantly boosting productivity and expertise.

Key challenges include completing the upper two floors of the hospital, increasing the number of medical specialists, and upgrading radiology, pharmacy, and laboratory capabilities. The hospital is also working to expand its operating theater capacity, with a long-term goal of establishing an intensive care unit.

TOGO

CENTRE HOSPITALIER ADVENTISTE D'OPHTALMOLOGIE DE GLÉI

Centre Hospitalier Adventiste d'Ophtalmologie de Gléi (CHAO) serves patients across Togo and neighboring Benin, providing both ophthalmology and dental care. In 2024, the hospital's ophthalmology department saw nearly 3,000 new patients, while the dental department treated 800 new patients. Approximately 300 surgeries were performed, the majority being cataract surgeries.

This year, CHAO joined Adventist Health International, marking a period of significant improvements. The dental clinic now features a digital X-ray system, while the ophthalmology department upgraded its equipment with new slit lamps, a YAG laser, and an A/B scan—vital tools for determining the appropriate intraocular lens for cataract surgeries. Additionally, the operating room's microscope and instruments were upgraded to enhance surgical precision and patient outcomes.

In 2024, CHAO welcomed new specialists: Dr. Jason Kim, an ophthalmologist, and Dr. Grace Kim, a dentist. Together with the hospital's 20 dedicated staff members, they strive to provide exceptional care. Every team member at CHAO prays daily that patients experience Christ's love through the compassionate care and healing that they receive.

THE AMERICAS UPDATES

BELIZE

LA LOMA LUZ ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

La Loma Luz Adventist Hospital (LLAH), located in Santa Elena, Belize, began its journey in 1972 when Dr. Raymond Mundall and his family relocated to Belize. Over the past five decades, the hospital has grown into one of the nation's premier medical institutions, delivering healthcare and remaining dedicated to its mission of providing spiritual support and compassionate service to patients and the broader community.

This year, a missionary family has joined the LLAH team. Mauro Stempelatto, a biomedical engineer from Argentina, moved onto campus in April. Mauro and his family have been a tremendous blessing to both the hospital and the community, repairing equipment that would have otherwise been discarded. Though the Computed Tomography (CT) machine is still non-functional despite a tube replacement, plans are in place to replace it with a more suitable model.

In June, LLAH hosted the second Mission Bootcamp, welcoming two Loma Linda University medical students, Heeyun and Rebecca, and one Loma Linda University dental student, Samantha Belenson. The program provided spiritual renewal and hands-on service, inspiring those considering long-term mission work.

By July, the hospital was officially granted a license to operate from the Ministry of Health, a significant milestone achieved by God's grace and the support of generous donors. In August, the Spiritual Care department held a prayer program that led to discussions about creating a Lifestyle Center on campus. The hospital is currently fundraising $175,000 USD to renovate a building for this purpose (view photo of the Lifestyle Center render above), starting with a cafeteria that will promote health and support both hospital staff and the local community.

NEPAL

SCHEER MEMORIAL ADVENTIST HOSPITAL

Scheer Memorial Adventist Hospital (SMAH) reached a significant milestone this year with the generous donation from a local businessman, Mr. Rajbhai Pradhan, who funded the construction of a new outpatient department (OPD) building in honor of his parents and wife. The brick-laying ceremony took place on November 6, 2024, marking the beginning of full-scale construction. This expansion is crucial, as SMAH has not had significant new clinical space in over 20 years. The hospital expresses deep gratitude for this invaluable contribution, which will enhance patient care and services. Mr. Rajbhai Pradhan personally laid the foundational brick alongside his maternal uncle and has remained actively involved in overseeing the progress of the OPD building. At this stage, the foundation has been set, and horizontal tie-beams are being connected, bringing the project closer to completion.

SMAH also received the Best in Community Involvement award at the Hospital Management Asia Awards for its Comprehensive Women's Health Project, which addresses critical health issues faced by women in Nepal. Competing against 307 entries from 113 hospitals across 15 countries, SMAH stood out in the Best in Community Involvement category. Dr. Angela Basnet, Vice President of Medical Services, accepted the award on behalf of the hospital. With 600,000 women suffering from uterine prolapse (POP) and cervical cancer being the leading cause of death, the project focuses on mass screenings, healthcare worker training, and free surgeries. Despite Nepal's Supreme Court declaring POP a human rights issue in 2008, many women still struggle to access treatment, and the country lacks a national HPV vaccination program.

Between January 2023 and June 2024, SMAH screened 12,800 women, including 8,550 for cervical cancer, identifying 357 visual inspection with acetic acid-positive cases. Additionally, 1,920 cases of pelvic organ prolapse were diagnosed, leading to 270 free surgeries. To enhance local healthcare, 42 auxiliary nurse midwives (ANMs) received specialized training. Moving forward, the project aims to expand screening to improve early interventions and empower women with better healthcare access, reducing the burden of preventable diseases in Nepal.

UKRAINE

ANGELIA ADVENTIST MEDICAL CENTER

In 2024, Angelia Adventist Medical Center (AAMC) in Kyiv faced its most challenging year yet, as relentless drone and missile attacks continued to disrupt daily life. Despite the danger, the clinic remained operational, providing over 30,000 patient services and completing more than 90 mobile clinic trips to war-affected regions. These missions have been a lifeline for thousands in desperate need of medical care and emotional healing.

AAMC's mental health program expanded to address the growing psychological toll of war. Patients like Artem*, a former prisoner of war battling severe Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder and alcohol dependence, found renewed strength after 12 days of inpatient care. Antin*, a military veteran and brother in Christ, was on the brink of suicide before receiving treatment. After just 10 days at Angelia, he shared a simple but powerful statement: "I want to live."

The clinic has also supported displaced families, frontline chaplains, and trauma survivors. Alisa*, a primary school teacher, lost both her home and only son but found a path toward healing at AAMC. Orthodox priests suffering from burnout have received specialized care, while entire families left homeless by bombings have turned to the clinic for rehabilitation.

Beyond its Kyiv facility, AAMC's medical teams have traveled deep into war zones, including Kherson, just miles from the frontlines. In this devastated city, Adventist churches remain a place of refuge, and AAMC's teams provide healthcare and crisis counseling, ensuring that faith and healing continue despite the ongoing conflict.

As AAMC enters its 11th year, it remains committed to serving Ukraine's most vulnerable. To sustain its operations in 2025, the clinic urgently needs $65,000 for fuel, mobile clinic missions, medical equipment maintenance, staff training, and the restoration of its electronic medical records system.

Even as war continues, AAMC stands firm—offering hope, healing, and faith to a country in crisis.

January 29, 2025

2024 has been a busy and productive year for Adventist hospitals and health systems around the world. Anniversaries have been celebrated and new work inaugurated. There are many moving parts to this process, and Adventist Health International (AHI) plays a key role in this global work. Together we strive to emulate Jesus who, when He saw the crowds, was moved with compassion. He mingled, sympathized, met needs, healed, and bade people to follow Him.

As with most successful enterprises, what is seen pales in comparison to what is unseen. The time and effort, however, are well worth the outcomes that God bestows. The “unseen” work and dedication of the AHI administrative committee involve meetings every Friday at noon. The team discusses and reviews personnel, equipment needs, philanthropic funding and project loans, training programs in health administration, and instrument technician training, to name some of the regular agenda items. The country reports are then reviewed, modified, and even expanded. Each week’s meeting curates information and progress, giving an exciting bird’s-eye view of the work of close to 50 Adventist hospitals around the world.

Our Church is at its best when entities collaborate for the common good. By God’s grace, together we can do more. The General Conference Administration and Adventist Health Ministries value and nurture our close collaboration with AHI. The multifaceted partnership we enjoy is fueled by Christ’s example to bring healing, health, and wholeness—true Shalom—to all who are served by our global healthcare initiatives. It further includes financial support, personnel, and identification of donors and funding opportunities. Most importantly, the collaboration models the ideal of extending the Healing Ministry of Jesus.

Thank you, AHI, for your vision, unstinting service, and dedication. We look forward to further collaboration as we move through 2025 and until Jesus comes. Maranatha!

EXTENDING COMPASSION: THE GENEROSITY OF 2024

BY ALBIN GROHAR, PHD

What began as a visionary concept—recognizing the need to support Adventist-affiliated hospitals worldwide—has grown into a transformative force in global healthcare.

For this vision to succeed, it would take far more than good intentions. Rebuilding infrastructure, strengthening staffing, and navigating complex political and organizational landscapes were just the beginning. AHI donors play a crucial role in ensuring access to high-quality healthcare for one million patients worldwide each year. In partnership with dedicated healthcare professionals, they uphold the mission of extending Christ's healing ministry to those in need.

Your generosity serves as the foundation of AHI's mission, lighting the way toward a healthier world.

BING FRAZIER

MARCH 11, 1958 - JANUARY 2, 2025

Bing Frazier worked at Loma Linda University Health for over 26 years, serving in the departments of human resources, medical surgical nursing, case management, international affairs, and finally with the Global Health Institute where she managed the International Professional Development Program (IPDP).

She arranged mentorship and training programs for international clinicians, fellows, faculty, administrators, resident rotations, student groups, government officials, and delegations, ranging in duration from 1-2 weeks and up to one year. The professionals she worked with came from the far reaches of the earth - Asia, Europe, South and Central America, Africa - and from most Adventist Health International hospitals.

It is estimated that Bing worked with well over 3,000 international professionals who have been mentored and trained through the IPDP.

JERRY DALY

OCTOBER 29, 1952 - OCTOBER 30, 2024

Jerry Daly's passion for service began during his undergraduate years when he spent a year as a student missionary in Tanzania. In his daily calendar, he marked a significant day in June when he first met Dick and Judy Hart, fellow missionaries. This transformative experience shaped his lifelong commitment to international service.

His 45-year career at Loma Linda University (LLU) spanned multiple leadership roles, from media services and information technology to the University Library and, ultimately, the Global Health Institute (GHI), where he served as assistant vice president for global outreach.

He directed logistics for the Loma Linda University Overseas Heart Surgery Team, provided administrative and procurement support for Sir Run Run Shaw Hospital in China, managed USAID grants in Afghanistan and the West Bank, and dedicated over two decades to Adventist Health International (AHI), where he oversaw logistics and warehouse operations.

MILDRED STILSON

JANUARY 16, 1921 - JANUARY 29, 2025

Mildred Stilson, MD completed Loma Linda University School of Medicine (LLUSM) alongside her husband, Donald. After getting married in 1943, they graduated together with the class of 1946.

Fulfilling their commitment to overseas medical work, they were assigned to Ishaka Adventist Hospital in Uganda. After 15 months of exams and training, they arrived in East Africa in late 1948. Dr. Stilson treated patients under makeshift conditions. With limited resources—no running water, electricity, or telephones—she adapted quickly, performing surgeries, including cesarean sections, often by daylight or kerosene lamp.

After 12 years, Ishaka Adventist Hospital was fully operational, and the Stilsons returned to the U.S. The Stilsons started a legacy of compassionate care at Ishaka Adventist Hospital which continues today.
